

Note: there are two types of normalizations in the image. Some curves show the filter transmission, while others show the total system throughput. Please see the table for more information.